I mean, I've never even heard of this author, Haruko Mitsuhira. Nobody's gonna buy this.
Look girl, manga this obscure are even less valuable than used ones. They're just pieces of garbage.
People sometimes paste these things on their book to prove they own it.
Haha, the owner pasted a bookplate.
It must have meant a lot.
According to this, it belongs to the author.
But geez, where did you nick them from?

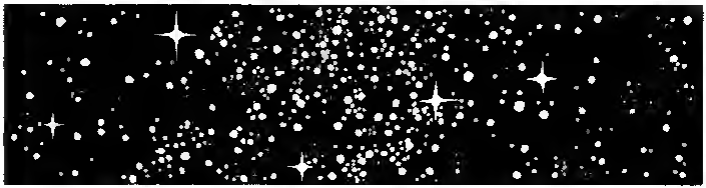
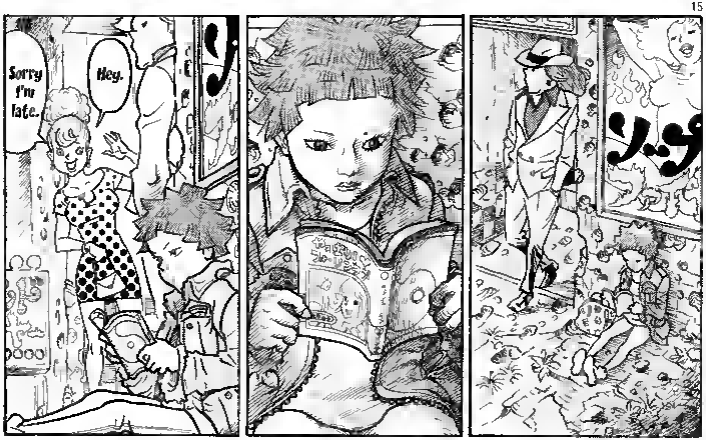
So I'm willing to trade these manga for a packet of powdered soap.
Ah well, paper itself does have some value these days.





Sorry I'm late.

Things got too hard and I just ran away in the middle of the series...

There hasn't been anything else in my life except for those manga ...
And running away was all I ever did after that.
